Juror A. H. Hensiee's alleged bias against Leo M. Frank, around which much of the hardest fighting in the hearing for a new trial has centered, again was the subject when Solicitor General Dorsey resumed his argument in defense of the verdict of guilty Tuesday, in the library of the State Gaptiol. He made a bitter attack on the character of some of the defense's winesses. The Solicitor took up the business connections, character and reputation of each of the jurors, paying particular attention to Hensies and Johenning, the two statecked, and sought to show that the jury was unusually and remarkably high class, and that it was utterly futile to allege that any member was prejudiced and unfair, as it has been the endeavor of Frank's lawyers to establish. Dorsey made an eloquent protest against the upsatting of a solemn verdict of a jury on what he described as the filmsy and insubstantial grounds advanced by the defense. He savagely attacked the reputation for veracity of several of the defense's wifense with a summary of the defense who swore to the expressed bias of Hensiee and asked if a new trial should be granted on their irresponsible statements.

Branding as highly improbable, absurd and ridiculous the scores of affidavits charging A. H. Henslee with the utterance of certain remarks indicating prejudice and animosity against Leo M. Frank, Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey came vigorously to the defense of the accused juror in his argument Tuesday morning, in the hearing of the motion for a new trial for the convicted factory superintendent.

The Solicitor declared vehemently that many of the depositions offered by the defense bear the earmarks af fraud, citing the affidavits of Leon Harrison and Julius Lehman as specific instances. He ridiculed Lehman's affidavit, declaring his statement is shot through and through with the absurdity and improbability, and that it is proven false by Henslee's own affidavit. There was too much of Lehman's affidavit, the Solicitor declared, it was too definite and precise. Langhable, he declared, it he only term that this it.

The Solicitor spent practically the entire morning in an endeavor to ridicule with shafts of ridicule and sarcasm the depositions offered by the defense. The affidavit of Samuel Aaron, who swore that Henslee, during a controversy in the Elik' Olub in June, characterized Frank as a — Jew, and expressed a desire to kill him was a target for more than an hour of the Solicitor's ridicule.

"It is highly improbable," the Solicitor declared, "that the controversy could have happened at. "This was thrown for the 28 days of the Solicitor declared, "that the controversy could have happened at." This was to your bonce to say Branding the efforts of Luther Rosser and Reuben Arnold to prove the existence of a "triumphant mob spirit" during the trial of Leo M. Frank as a "slander against the citizenship of the community and an insult to the people of Georgia, "Solicitor Dorsey Tuesday scattingly arraigned the scores of men who have made affidavits charging bias and prejudice and bloodthristy animosity on the part of Jurora Henslee and Johennize the depositions of the defense he characterized as highly improbable, absured and ridiculous, unworthy of belief, and his argument teemed with intimation that the affidavits were manufactured out of whole truth, and were downright lies. Launching a vigorous defense of Jurors Henslee and Johenning at the opening of the hearing this morning, Solicitor Dorsey interpolated in his speech a fiery denial that the feeling manifested by the crowd that attended the trial was an expression of hatred against Leo M. Frank as a Jew.

THERE'S A GREAT FREE FICTION MAGAZINE

COMING WITH

Next Sunday's American

It contains a continuation of Frederick Arnold Kummer's live story, "A SONG OF SINPENNE." Better start reading it if you didn't begin with the first installment last month. Then there will be the usual high-class features of this bright magazine, to say nothing of some new ones. And speaking of features, there are some splendid ones in the regular magazine supplement which nine out of ten persons in Atlanta read every Sunday.

The Tale of the Mummy of Thais which has been found after all these years in her tomb, throws new light upon the strange career of this fabled beauty of ancient Alexan-dria, who mocked at the Christian religion and then, becoming convert-ed, burned her jewels in repentance.

A Hunt Is On for a Perfect Husband and Wife and there is a $500 reward offered for a wedding gift with another $500 as a present for the first new member of the family. Next Sunday's American will tell you all about it. At the same time you can read

What the Stars Predict for November which may help you win the orize. Next Sunday's American is the greatest issue of a great paper. Order now from your dealer or by phone to Main 100.

"Keeping the Pot Boiling"

A homely expression, but rather expressive of industry and busy-ness, and so it fits the goings-on in

The Ready-to-Wear Section

For there is that healthy, fine hustle about things that indicates life and interest.

ttes life and interest.

Not a day passes now that something new is not shown.

It may be a novel suit that some ahead-of-the-rest makassent us.

It may be a new coat.

It may be another Paris surprise dress.

Quite natural, isn't it, that women should show interest in such a ready-to-wear section? It would be odd if they did not. For, say what-you will, women, when they are out to select a new suit or cost or dress, do want to see the things that are in some way or another different (new) from the ordinary leaf. nary kind.
The pot is boiling, boiling, boiling—here.

The Fact That "Madame Irene" Corsets Are Favored by So Many Smart Women Has Its Significance

Smart Women Has Its Significance
We might tell and retell the mer its of "Madame Irene" Corsets, with more or less success in convincing the individual, but the fact that so many women who are "up" on such matters favor the "Madame Irene" tells the whole story at once.

Asked why, these women would probably say that the lines of a "Madame Irene" Corset are those of the present-day fashion, and that they are comfortable; the materials are beautiful; the trimmings neat and dainty; the whole effect one of grace and elegance.

But to go a bit farther into the why—'Madame Irene" Corsets are of Parisian descent. Madame Irene her self (the designer) spends a good portion—at different times—of her year in Paris. She learns what the Parisian style wizards are doing and what the Parisian corsetiere is doing, and brings this knowledge and the materials to America to make "Madame Irene" Corsets for American women. The result is that which usually follows the most painstaking effort, sometimes called genius.

Madame Irene Corsets Are Priced From

Madame Irene Corsets Are Priced From

$5.00 to $37.50

There are Brocades, Silk Batistes, Imported Coutils, Tricots, Silk Suedes and Elastic Corsets (these last have come in for unusual praise by many eminent surgeons), in styles that belong distinctively to Madame Irene and the fall of 1913.

"The Successo" Is the Madame Irene Understudy

It is priced at $2.75 to $6.00.

Made by the same people, who, believing in their styles, would not make corsets along other lines. The difference is a matter of material and finishing, and still there are "Successor" in French Coutil, Silk Batiste, Suedine, Brocade and a new Linen Poplin.

Comfort O'er Night=-Fleecy Night Gowns

New ones, which means that the patterns and colorings of the flan-nelettes are not what one is accustomed to finding.

A bit different and more attractive, with outlined stripes, in dain-ty blues and pinks; others all white. Nor is it necessary to choose the high neek style; here are those with round neck and yoke. Regular and extra sizes. 50c to $2.

Where Hats Are Most Becoming

125 Hats at $5.00 & $7.50

Until Now These Hats Were $7.50 to $25.00

But let's get at the statistics.

The list shows that there were two hats previously $7.50, one hat $8.50; a dozen or more that were $21.00, $23.00 and $25.00; the others were from $10.00 to $18.00, which, now divided into two lots, one at $5.00 and one at $7.50, shows that only three hats are not reduced so much as one-half.

It's to be a fine sale!

For somehow or other hats seem to grow prettiest and becomingest in this millinery section. They are hats that women "take to," that women like because they are different from ordinary hats.

And now that in this first sale of the season, a readjustment of stocks, prices have been treated so drastically the economy (without sacrifice to the becomingness of one's hat) is compelling.

There are thirty-five hats at $7.50.

There ninety hats at $5.00.

They are styles you would be wearing right now, with tailored suits and silk dress; a few are for more "dressy" occasions. Velvets and plushes rule, and there are plenty of black

Trimmings are fancy feathers, the favored wide ribbon bows, flowers, and there is a touch of fur now and then. But over and above the materials and the trimmings stands that chic and smartness of line and of contrasted and blended colors that tell very plainly these hats were made by artists.

Indeed, it's to be a fine sale!

It begins with the opening of the store at eight o'clock.

Remnant Sales of Silks and Woolens

We Will Let You at Them at Nine o'Clock

The knowing know what these remnant sales at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. mean!

So let us but say that here is one that builds up from the foundation that other remnant sales have made.

The past sixty days have seen thousands of yards of silks and dress goods cut off, and have left hundreds of short lengths to tell the tale of a one-time full piece.

Of course these silks and woolens had to be of the mode; they were new with this Fall---but the fact that they are now remnants tells all that.

They are getting in our way now.

So they go!

And with their passing let us mention that in these remnant sales, as in all things, we have the temerity to do what we

Our claims are very large.

So will be the goings-on.

Allen's Fur-Trimmed Tailored Suits Interesting and Original Models

The adoption of the novelty tailored suit is world-wide.

The Allen collection might also be said to be world-wide.

They have come to us from the world centers of fashion—referring to our handsome imported suits; and so precedous and alert are our own American makers that barely is a foreign idea originated, before it is adopted by New York, instantly reproduced and placed within the reach of the modcrate purse.

It is the purpose of our suit department to offer you the latest and the strictly modish tailored suit at modest prices—$25 and $35.

Fur-Trimmed Broadcloth Suits $35.00

Fine quality broadcloth suits in brown, blue and black, showing two styles, deserve honorable mention. Both of these extremely engaging models are fashioned on the lines of the Russian Blouse, with Mandarrin sleeves. Buttoning ligh to the neck, it vis finished with fur. One of these beautiful suits has collar and cuffs of skunk, the other mole; one has satin sash with fringe, the other stitches down belt with pleated Peplum below—each very different—each equally handsome, each

Here are others of Jacquard worsteds—un elegantly fin-ished fabric—velvet, plush and fur trimmed. Draped skirts, high waist lines, trimmed with velvet buttons.

And indeed the assortment affords a few very smart con-servative models in black and colors, including navy, blue, brown and mahogany.

If Anti-Home Rulers Can Defy the Law in Ireland, Why Not Mrs. Pank-

The Fact Is That BECAUE. WOMEN CAN'T VOTE They Must Not Even Question the Laws That Degrade Them.
Coppright, 813, by Star Company.

We offer you to-day another instalment from the good and much needed talk that Mrs. Pankhurst gave to her judge and jury—before they sentenced her to three years in prison. She didn't —before they sentenced her to three years in prison. She didn't STAY in prison, because she had the courage to starve until they were forced to let her out for fear of killing her. The judge in a solemn bromide fashion had informed Mrx. Panchurri repeatedly that she ought to respect the law, and teach women to respect it. Mrx. Panchursir was tried, and jailed, because she had told women they should not submit to laws that treated them unitally.

because she had told women they should not summit to laws that treated them unjustly.

At the same time, in Ulster, certain eminently respectable gentlemen WTHE VOTEB were organizing themselves into an army of one hundred thousand, had bought arms, and were openly announcing their intention of resisting with bullets and swords any effort by the British Empire to enforce Home Rule, regularly passed in the legislative body.

Nothing is done to punish those Ulster men WITH VOTES when there defor the law. but the laws is quick to put in juit of the laws but the laws is quick to put in juit of the laws.

Nothing is done to punish those Ulster men WITH VOTES when they dely the law, but the law is quick to put in juil to ucoman ocho, ulthout uceapons or guns, opposes injustice Mirs. Pankhurst said to her judge and jury:

consent to be ruled by the south.'

The distinguished and noble Lord was horrified that women in England should object to laws that do not suit them, that degrade them, and render them helpiess.

But he saw nothing wrong in the conduct of the men of Ulater arming themselves and defring the power of the Empire in the regular making of laws, in which those Ulater men might

CHILD LABOR IN MILLS.

STARS AND STRIPES

In this cartoon Mr. McCay gives us a powerful lesson in the contrasts of life. By the lowly sor of the city's refuse, the finding of a lady's long, white glove, suggesting daintiness and luxury, amid squalid realities, is halled as an omen of good luck.

25% to 50% Saved on Every Purchase But---THE BEST GO FIRST.

The Regrading has actually Commenced, and the street in front of our store is being lowered Eight Feet. Our store will, of course, have to be lowered to that level, which means that in a few weeks the store will have to be Completely Remodeled. Our warehouse is also in the Regrading section, and rather than 90 to the tremendous expense of having our Furniture stored during the remodeling, we have decided to give our triends the banelit of what is separated by the Createst Offering of Furniture Bargains Ever Known in the History of Atlanta. Unheard-of values are being offered in Every line. Thousands of wise buyers have already saved hundreds of dollars on their purchases here; but these we have replaced with goods we had stored in our warehouse. So that we are now prepared to give You just the same bargains that were being offered on the opening day of this great Sale. But there are only a few of The Best Bargains, and these will certainly be gone before many more days. So hurry here and get your choice. The sidewalks are in perfect condition, and you can buy here without the least inconvenience. An extra force of salesmen will be here the wait on you.

We will continue in business after this Sale; but we Never Expect to ever be able to offer you such Sonsational Bargains as you can get Now.

Miss Katherine Elkins snapped as she laughed when a reporter the other day asked her if she intended to marry "Billy" Hitt. She laughed then, but she married "Billy" Monday—which goes to show that it pays to stick around. "Billy" was never daunted by the suit of dukes and millionaires. He stayed right on the job in a quiet and persistent manner, and he won the most eligible and attractive young woman in America.

Sweet Sixteen and Her Stepmother

By WINIFRED BLACK

YOUR wife is good, true, kind, gentle, sweet and considerate. And your daughter hates her just because she is her stepmother?

She is impudent, cross, stubborn, sullen and disagreeable in every way—and you don't know what to do? Well, now, in the first place, how old is daughter?

Sixteen—I thought so—the meanest, most conceited, most self-centered age on earth. Talk about sweet sixteen—sour sixteen would be better—or silly sixteen, I'm afraid. Up to that age a girl is a little girl—easily managed, tractable, affectionate, a thing to be loved and petted and cared for. But after that till she's twenty or so she's just about the most foolish creature in the world. I'd say the most foolish if she didn't have a brutler. When he gets to be about twenty he'll show sister the road to Foolville, and not even try very hard.

road to Foolville, and not even try very hard.

Heard About Stepmothers.

It isn't the girl who's cross, it's her age and what she thinks she ought to be. She's heard about stepmothers since she was born, and not one good word has she ever heard about them. She feels ever heard about them. She feels about that just as you'd feel if somebody brought a nice, amiable, well-meaning rattlesnake home to board and then was lighted to meet and greet him.

Silly—of course it is silly—so many things are—but they are to be reckoned with all the same—silly or not.

The average stepmether is not as fond of daughter as the average mother—how can she be? But I don't believe she's any such ogre as popular fiction makes her out to be.

as popular fiction makes her out to be.

See here! What if you were in business somewhere, and you liked the business and the man you worked for, and he liked you and he thought you very clever and very interesting and couldn't get on without you at all. And all at once he brought a new man to the shop—a man not so clever as you and, from your point of view, not half so interesting—and you saw your place in the business gradually absorbed by the new manwould you love him madly just because somebody told you it was your duty to do so?

Your bome, your house, your your duty to do so?

Your home, your house, your heart has been your little girl's business for some years. She's been about everything there was on earth to you. And now all at once here's this newcomer taking her place at the table, telling her what to wear. Her—the Great Wonder of the Age—who knows everything better than anyone else could even dream of knowing it—unless she was sweet sixteen and her father's only daughter, too.

"Bossing" her about her clothes, "advising" her about the way to do her hair, "misunderstanding" her friendships, not "realizing" her amplitions, smilling when she ought to sigh, frowning when she ought to sigh. Why, it really is very hard for Sweet Sixteen when you come to think of it, isn't it?

to think of it, isn't it?

She'd Be Forty Odd.

And then—the Mother who's gone—don't you love the little girl just a little for being jealous of things on her account, too?

See things from your point of view? Now she wouldn't be Sixteen if she could do that, would she?

she?
She'd be—um, well, say fortyodd, and a whole lot of things will look different to her when she's look different to her when she's forty.

She'll realize then that memory is poor company and that tears are an unwholesome drink for any human belag. She'll see the roses bloom on the grave of the one she loved best in the world and stop a minute for the gentle tribute of a sigh—and nothing more.

She'll understand then that Forty is human as much as Sixteen, and astonished because Forty needs companionship, sympathy, appreciation and love.

Thinks It Too Silly.

Of course, she thinks that word too silly for anything for Forty. But she'll get over that—some day, some time—when she's forty, too. And then she'll look back and see how selfish and foolish and cruel she was when she was Sweet Sixteen, and tried to still the hot jealousy in her heart by sarcastic smiles at poor Stepmother's little timid attempts to appease her. Then she'll know how self-centered she was and be sorry. But after all you know this is the very time of her life when she would have been the very center of the home if Mother had lived.

Daughter's gowns, daughter's friends, daughter's homes downers.

if Mother had lived.
Daughter's gowns, daughter's friends, daughter's hopes, daughter's ambitions, those would have been the whole thing, and now she's just a side issue, just a second fiddle—and she wouldn't be human if she didn't resent it just a little.
What thell you de? Be actived.

little.
What shall you do? Be patient, be wise, be sympathetic to both these women. They both belong to you, and some day it will all straighten itself out. You can not eat your cake, dear man, and have it, too, you know. Though, somehow, that's just what we poor mortals are always trying to do, aren't we?

Total Reduction of Duty on Foods Is $66,000,000 for 100,-000,000 Population.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—According to the actual figures of the new tariff law the high cost of living, as estimated with respect to foodstuffs alone, will not be greatly reduced, notwithstanding the promises of the party that the prices of these articles would take a tumble after the law After free sugar becomes effective, went into operation. Because the saing the calculations upon the duties paid under the Payne-Aidrich law for the year 1812, the net saving law for the year 1812, the net saving will amount to just amount on the payne and child in the United States. The amount of duties paid in 1912 on articles that have been transferred from the dutiable to the free list was $1,265,733. On items upon which remaily will be based upon the 1912 figures, $4,112,722. These two classifications bring about a lessening of duties on articles of food amounting to $13,609,640.

To this must be added after three the company of the saving and the savi
